

Tommy the Tinker Fairy had been at King Henry and Queen Olivia's castle when something in the Magical Kingdom went wrong. There was a new weather fairy and she had used too many of her magical snow crystals and it had caused a huge snowstorm. Snow fell down extremely quickly around the castle and the surrounding areas. Communications from the Weather Center told them that the weather fairies were working to fix the problem, but it could take a few days to get rid of all the snow because it was still falling much faster than normal.
